CRASH ON Hwy. 90

A three-car wreck in the eastbound lane of Hwy. 90 in Waveland sent two passengers to the emergency room on Saturday afternoon, according to Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell. The driver of the first vehicle, Bryson Creppel of Hammond, La., said that he attempted to stop at a red light at the Nicholson Ave. intersection when his foot slipped off the brake and struck the car in front of him, which in turn, crashed into a third vehicle.

A man collecting aluminum cans discovered several suspiciously wrapped packages in NASA's Buffer Zone Tuesday afternoon, Sheriff Steve Garber reports.

The man stopped Sheriff's Buffer Zone Deputy David Dear to report his find, who in turn notified the sheriff's office and this followed a host of officers responding to the scene, Hancock Investigator John Luther said Wednesday afternoon.

Luther said, "The suspicious packages, three of them, tightly wrapped with electrical tape, contained very long nails, silvers of glass, straw, etc., but there were no explosives or fuses. Someone spent a lot of time wrapping them."

A bomb squad was called from the Biloxi Police Department, who X-rayed one of the packages and then

Local cyclist wins four gold medals

BY TATE RAMSEY
Bob Davis of Bay St. Louis captured four gold medals in bicycling at the Mississippi Senior Olympics on May 7, 2005, in the 65-to-69 age group. Davis won all four races that he entered: the 20 kilometer (K) road race, the 10K and 5K time trials, and the one-mile sprint. He elected not to enter the fifth event, the 40K road race, because he was too tired. He acknowledged that he needs to train harder before next year's Olympics.

The event took place on the Choctaw Reservation outside of Philadelphia, MS, and all five races were held the same day, starting at 8:00 a.m. and finishing by 1:30 p.m. Obviously, there was not much time to rest up between races. Davis noted that the race course was very nice, but rather hilly compared to where he rides on the coast.

Davis was the only person from Gulf Coast area competing in the cycling event this year. Last year he could only capture four silver (2nd place) medals, but, lucky for Davis, last year's gold medalist had his 70th birthday during the year, so he graduated to the next higher age group, where he again won all five gold medals. Davis does not look forward to turning 70 and getting back into the same age group with this guy.

By virtue of his performance in the Mississippi Olympics, Davis has qualified for the National Senior Olympics to be held next month in Pittsburgh, PA. Although he says he has no illusions about winning a medal in the Nationals, he has registered to compete in Pittsburgh just for the "once in a lifetime" experience. To all his friends here on the coast, he says: "Please wish me luck."

Stennis Space Center to celebrate 'Old Timers' Day

NASA's Stennis Space Center (SSC) near Bay St. Louis will celebrate Old Timers' Day on Friday, May 13, beginning at 4 p.m. at SSC's Cypress House pavilion.

Former and current SSC employees, regardless of their organizational affiliations or length of service, are invited to attend.

The annual event commemorates the first tree cutting on May 17, 1963, which began the clearing of land for a national rocket test facility in Hancock County, known then as NASA Mississippi Test Operations.

"Every year, it's great to get everyone together to reminisce about what it was like to get this facility up and running," said longtime employee Jeanne Kellar of Picayune, who helps coordinate the event. "It was a big deal for the region. It was exciting then, and it's exciting now to see how far it has come."

The SSC Recreational Association Old Timers' Club sponsors this event. For information, call Kellar at (228) 688-3043.

Bay could get condo of its own

BY JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

Condominiums have been a hot topic at governmental meetings up and down the Gulf Coast over the past months. Recent interest in several sites in Bay St. Louis has already sparked initial controversy in the area.

According to Bill Carragee, building official, developers have expressed interest in several sites around town. A lot between Trapani's Eatery and the abandoned movie theater on Beach Blvd. has received preliminary site approval.

Another piece of land at the foot of Main Street has been purchased by a development firm who has plans to build at least three stories on top of a parking level. No official action on the project, other than the purchase of the land, which sold for $725,000, has been taken.

Carragee said that other sites, such as the Reed Hotel, had also been considered.

"I don't know what it is," Carragee said. "It seems like everyone and his brother wants to build condos these days."

The maximum height for any building in the city is 35 feet, unless given approval by the fire chief. Buildings in C-3 commercial zones have no height restriction after this approval is given, provided they do not run against a residential zone.

Carragee added that city officials were very concerned with keeping the character of Bay St. Louis intact.

"The City of Bay St. Louis has reasons for its limitations," he said.

Ellis Anderson, owner of the Quarter Moon Gallery on Main Street, is the co-founder of the Coastal Community Watch group, a mailing list that keeps members updated with new developments in the area. To join the mailing list, e-mail Anderson at ellisa@mchsi.com.

Anderson is concerned that condominiums will adversely affect the charm of Bay St. Louis.

"The nature of this community is what draws people here. It's our biggest asset. Our city officials are easy to work with. We are not an adversarial group. We're a positive group. This is an exciting time for Bay St. Louis. We need to keep an eye on what kind of developments come."

Joe Farece, who works as a manager at Trapani's Eatery, said condominiums could be a boon for the area.

"I think it's going to be great," Farece said. "Condos will bring more people to the area. Why let people go somewhere else when you can have them here?"

John Brennan, owner of Maggie May's Art Gallery, was less enthusiastic.

"I don't have a problem with the condos, but I do have an issue with the location," Brennan said. "I hope the city sets a lower height ordinance and sticks with it. To obscure the view at the foot of Main Street would be a shame."

Students in Hancock High School and Hancock Vo-Tech Center's Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) organization placed in the state level FBLA competition held in Jackson on April 21-22. First place winners advance to national FBLA competition to be held in Orlando, Florida during June. ## Traffic stops lead to drugs

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

A total of three suspects were arrested over the weekend following traffic violation stops of two vehicles, according to Sheriff Steve Garber.

Sheriff's Narcotic Division director Major Matt Karl said, "On Friday evening, Deputy Brandon Henley stopped a vehicle with a busted windshield on the Kiln-DeLisle Road. Christopher Armstrong, 29, of Gulfport was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance, (Ecstasy). A second occupant in the vehicle, Brian Fairley, 29, of Gulfport, was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Armstrong's bond was set at $10,000.

Lt. Jimmy Esposito was also at the scene and Agent Push Phillips is handling the investigation.

Also over the weekend, Karl said, Nicholas August Rauxet, 26, of Kiln, was pulled over for riding an ATV without wearing a helmet on Apache Drive, Kiln. Following the traffic violation stop, during a pat-down by Deputies John Bounce, Kyle Malley and Kent Malley, Rauxet took off running toward his residence.

Rauxet was charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver (Ice), Karl said, and a bond of $50,000 was set at the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility.

Agent Phillips is also in charge of the investigation.

HANCOCK MEDICAL CENTER

Hancock Medical Center was recently awarded freaccreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation for Healthcare Organizations for three years following a detailed, on-site four-day survey by a physician/nurse team.

Numerous employees were interviewed and observed in hospital and clinic settings, while surveyors tested compliance with nationally recognized standards throughout the organization.

In closing comments, surveyors lauded the dedication, enthusiasm and synergy demonstrated by our health care team at HMC.

During National Hospital Week, we pause to commend the 543 employees who are the heart of our organization and, with our medical staff, are the reason for our success as your community hospital.

Don't miss out on HMC's Health Fair

As many of you know, the week is National Hospital Week and Hancock Medical Center. In celebration of National Hospital Week, Hancock Medical will on Saturday, have its annual Community Health Fair.

The event will take place on the hospital's grounds at the Main entrance from 9 a.m. to Noon on May 14.

The Community Health Fair will offer free health screenings to folks in addition to having special activities for Kids.

So, everyone is invited and encouraged to attend.

There will be more than 60 booths with information and giveaways, so there is something for folks of all ages.

Also on Saturday evening, Bay St. Louis' Second Saturday celebration for May will be held too.

This is a time when Bay St. Louis' Old Town Merchants will present good food, fine wine, excellent music and great art to the general public.

During this month's Art Walk in Old Town merchants will extend their regular Saturday hours until 8 p.m. in the celebration of the monthly event.

The area of celebration includes Beach Boulevard and the first and second blocks of Main Street.

Bobby Allison, area

musician will be performing songs from his ample repertoire on the 200 block of Main Street from 5 to 8 p.m.

There will also be a 4 p.m. ribbon cutting to dedicate Serenity Place in honor of Jerry Dixon, former owner of Serenity, now Maggie May's Exploring the Art. Many of our local artists will have their work on display for Second Saturday.

It was great to see so many folks out on Saturday night for the annual American Cancer Society's Relay for Life.

Once again David Mayley did a great job along with the help of several others to make the Relay for Life a great success.

A special too goes to all participants and those who made contributions for the very worthy cause.

Cancer touches so many families and hopefully one day there will be a cure for all cancers.

It was very good too, to see so many youngsters from area schools participate in the fund raiser.

The Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center is just a great place to hold such a great event.

A very large celebration is planned for Saturday, May 21 in Waveland, and that is a Armed Forces Day Gala.

Bush selling us some snake oil

President Bush came to town the other day selling snake oil on his plan to "reform" the Social Security system.

First off, I want to say that Social Security is very close to my own heart, as well as vital to my income now in my so-called "golden years." And when any politician starts to mess with it, I dig into how he affects the system.

Bush's appearance brought to mind the days snake oil hucksters peddled their miracle oil to cure everything. But in the end it only made suckers who bought it more alert when the next scam came along.

What Bush told workers at the sprawling Nissan plant in Canton sounded good: They could put some of their Social Security payroll taxes into private investment accounts and happily have a fat nest egg on reaching retirement.

Then Bush scared the Nissan workers by saying that without his privatization plan their payroll taxes would have to be hiked from 12.8 percent to 18 percent to keep Social Security solvent until they could retire.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

That's where Bush spread snake oil thickest. Sadly some comments heard after his appearance indicate at least a few present were gullible enough to buy into his sales pitch.

As with snake oil, those who would buy Bush's pitch at Nissan, would be duped if they think the stuff is a cure for whatever ills may exist in Social Security in years ahead.

Despite the impression Bush is trying to create in the minds of the American people, there is no crisis in Social Security. Economists and analysts agree that not until 2041 will the system's trust fund not be able to pay 100 percent of benefits from present payroll taxes.

Even then if the trust fund is exhausted, retirees would get 70 percent of what the system now guarantees. Not bust.

Here's where the privatized investment accounts Bush was selling out at Nissan is especially laughable: His idea would do absolutely nothing to help Social Security's solvency problem. (More about the SS private accounts later.)

If Bush and Congress would face the hard truth and deal with hiking the Social Security payroll tax just by a mere 0.3 percent starting in 10 years and adding tiny increments over the next 20 years, they could assure the system's solvency for many decades.

That's not the 18 percent payroll tax Bush warned the workers out at Nissan that they were facing not long down the road.

Even tax-cutting Ronald Reagan, Bush's idol of fiscal infallibility, had the guts to raise Social Security (and Medicaid too, remember) payroll taxes incrementally beginning in 1983 to meet what a bipartisan commission then found to be a bona fide crisis in the systems fund.

Presidents going back to John F. Kennedy have said that Social Security shouldn't remain static, that changes in population and our standard of living warranted revisions.

But authorities such as Alicia H. Munnell, director

Fight Biloxification in Hancock County

Dear Editor,

I stand opposed to the recent rezoning to C4 of 6000 acres of marshland at Bayou Caddy by the Board of Supervisors, and the site approval by the Planning and Zoning Commission of the first 10 condominium units proposed to be built on that site.

If the building of all 10 site approved condominiums goes forward the impact will be devastating to more than just traffic, but I choose to deal with that factor today.

Those 10 buildings range in height from 12 to 38 stories, lets average that out to 22 stories with ten units per floor or 2200 units. If each unit averages 1.7 cars, we get an additional 3740 cars. If those cars make an average of 1.5 trips per day we get 5610 trips per day.

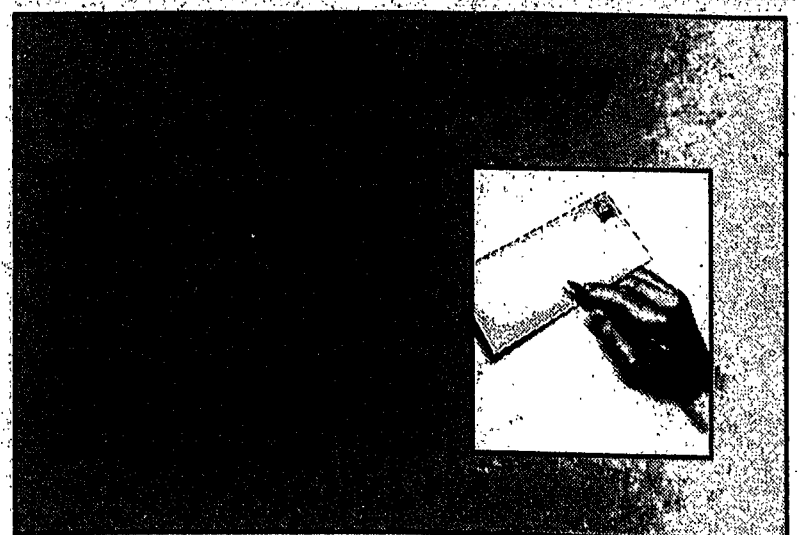

Let us now surmise that only 25% of those trips use our beach route we would have an increase of 1402.5 cars on that road every day.

I remember riding my bike on Beach Blvd. from Waveland to Christ Episcopal School in the late 1950s and on a very busy day my brother and I would be passed by three cars. I know that we cannot freeze time anywhere we choose, but we can certainly stifle, such a mega leap in development and the ensuing related problems.

This morning I ran a test on the amount of time it takes to drive from the Bay Saint Louis/ Pass Christian bridge to The Northern Belle Casino using two different routes. First I drove Beach Blvd. and made the trip in 18 minutes and 43 seconds. Returning via Lakeshore to Lower Bay to Hwy. 90 the trip took me 25 minutes and 8 seconds. This would seem to make Beach Blvd. a favored route for people driving to The Pass,

Letters to the Editor

Long Beach or beyond.

Of course, we would want to control this influx of traffic (we would have to) by changing Beach Blvd. to three lanes to be conservative, or at the very least turn lanes, and traffic signals at the important intersections (Main St., St. Stanislaus/O.L.A., Washington St., Nicholson, Coleman from flasher to signal, St. Clair at Vacation, possibly Waveland Ave. or Sears, and of course Lakeshore) Such a string of traffic signals would certainly eat up the five minute difference if a driver hits all of them and reduce the desirability to drive our most beautiful route, but I doubt it.

Make your voice heard, join Coastal Community Watch (lkordon@bell-south.net), and fight the Biloxification of heaven on earth.

Southern Regional eyes new projects

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

With construction about to begin on a temporary package plant to provide wastewater treatment service for the first two phases of the Pearlington collection system, the board of Southern Regional announced that it will begin searching for engineering services for several other projects.

The temporary Western plant will be out for bid as soon as two documents are complete, an environmental permit from the Corps of Engineers and a geotechnical report on the site. It will be built on a 20 acre site on Hwy. 90 in the Stennis Buffer Zone.

Southern Regional has advertised for statements of qualifications and interest from engineers for three additional projects. Proposals are due in June 13. Projects are: The design of a permanent 1.5 million gallon per day treatment plant to replace the 200,000 gallon per day temporary plant to serve Pearlington and areas west; the design of a new Northern 1.5 million gallon per day treatment plant to serve the Kiln area and points north; and the design of an affluent wetlands application system for the Waveland plant.

The permanent 1.5 mgd Western plant will incorporate many of the existing facilities of the temporary 200,000 gallon per day plant, said engineer Bruce Newton, who designed the temporary plant. The estimated cost of the new plant is $ 7.4 million. A $1.3 million bond from the Mississippi Development Bank will provide some of the funding for the $1.5 million temporary plant.

Opinions vary as to whether the permanent Western plant will have to be in place before the final third phase of the Pearlington collection system is brought on line. Newton said that the temporary plant could possibly service all of the estimated 800 customers in the Pearlington area. Estimated per household use for between two and three people is between 250 and 300 gallons per day, he said.

Southern Regional Board member Rocky Pullman said on Tuesday that he disagreed with Newton. Based on Newton's estimate with 800 households estimated use would be between 200,000 and 240,000 gallons per day. Plants usually do not run to full capacity because it is recommended that they have a safety margin to make sure treatment is effective.

"We can't know for sure if that will work," Pullman said. "Some of the older folks have less use, but we can't know what people will use."

Many Pearlington residents say that the heavily populated area which encompasses Phase 3 should have been the first to come on line. Phase 3 includes the Belle Isle subdivision, the subject of an investigation by the Department of Environmental Quality years ago, which cited the source of pollution in adjoining bayous to be leaking septic tanks in the neighborhood.

Board member Mayor Eddie Farve said that everyone involved would like to see things move faster. "We would all like to see everyone come on line at the same time," he said. Available funding has been the main holdup in the progress to bring treatment services to the county, Pullman has said.

The wetlands application system will take treated wastewater out of Edward's Bayou and apply it to a land area such as a timber farm. Plant manager Doyle Ladner reported that the plant is running at about 4 million gallons per day, which means that it is discharging 4 million gallons of treated wastewater into the bayou each day.

In other business: Board attorney Ronnie Artigues said that no further permits or approvals issued for high-rise condominium projects will be issued until a development agreement is reached between the developers and the county. "We have approved nothing yet except the C-4 Resort District," he said. The Hancock County Planning and Zoning Board recently approved preliminary site plans for 10, 12 to 36 story condo projects.

Chairman of Hancock county Water and Sewer Board Al Smith said the district had met with developers. "We told them they would foot the bill for any needed service and that they must come to Southern Regional for treatment approval," he said.

of the Center for Retirement Research at Boston College, says what Kennedy and others meant is that only an enormous problem in Social Security financing would justify a complete restructuring.

When the system faces only modest problems as it does now, Munnell adds, (and government actuaries agree) only marginal adjustments are needed.

But back to the Bush private investment account plan. Evidently some Nissan workers were dazzled by the glitter of free money awaiting them down the road if only they could divert part of their SS payroll taxes into stocks or bonds.

What Bush didn't tell them is that for every dollar they invest in private accounts they would see their government benefits reduced by one dollar, plus interest computed at 3 percentage points above inflation.

Consequently, if their investment account performed badly (example: the Dow in March 2005 was below what it was five years earlier in March 2000) when they wanted to retire, their Social Security check would have shrunk smaller than the safety net Franklin Roosevelt intended 70 years ago for the system to provide.

No mention was made by Bush of the $1 to $2 trillion initial price tag for diverting Social Security payroll taxes into partial privatization. Of course, Bush would borrow the money, upping the already record $8 trillion national debt.

If he is worried about future generations being saddled with the cost of Social Security, what about the incredible national debt he has already strapped on their backs?

Census figures show that 156,000 Mississippi seniors now rely on their Social Security checks for at least half of their total income. Of that number 95,000 depend on their SS benefits for almost all of their total income.

If Bush's privatization plan were now in effect, the Washington-based Institute for America's Future calculates that 71,000 Mississippi seniors would find themselves living below the poverty line.

Right here in Mississippi experiences of our state retirement system provide an excellent case of how risky investing retirement trust funds in the stock market can be.

The state's Public Employees Retirement System recently reported its trust fund sustained a $30 million loss in the stock market. Now, for the first time ever, PERS is appealing to the Legislature to come up with money to bail out its retirement trust fund to meet federal requirements.

Wiser heads around the state Legislature used to say when someone proposed a scheme to change some government program that was working well, "if it ain't broke, don't fix it." That goes for Social Security.

As polls strongly indicate, the American people aren't buying Bush's plan, either.

Stennis Airport chosen as finalist for $600 million aircraft plant

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Out of some 70 semi-finalists, Stennis International Airport has been chosen as one of the four finalists in a competition to land a $600 million aircraft plant that will produce military KC-330's for European Aeronautics Defense Space Company (EADS).

A decision on a location will be made in July, said Port and Harbor director Hal Walters. Until then state and local economic development agencies will be working vigorously to provide volumes of data needed for a final proposal. Final proposals have a June 1 deadline, said Walters.

"We are calling for help from all over the county in compiling data," said Walters.

The project will bring up to 1,000 plus jobs to our area. Port and Harbor's marketing manager Jerry Hemphill said it is likely that the plant will also bring support businesses and suppliers along with it.

The county will be asked to provide extensive information about the site itself, the available work force and the training available in the area, said Hemphill. Much of the needed training will be handled by Pearl River Community College and funded at the state level, Hemphill said. Company representatives and representatives from EADS consulting firm the Stavbach Group will also make one or more site visits.

EADS will be competing with Boeing for the Air Force manufacturing contract for the KC-330 Airbus. But even if EADS does not receive the contract, they will still be locating a multi-million dollar aircraft and engineering center at the winning location. That facility will provide 100 to 150 engineering and technical jobs, said Walters.

All sites up for consideration must be able to provide the 200 acres needed for the manufacturing facility. Other sites are Melbourne International Airport in Melbourne, FL, Charleston International Airport in North Charleston, South Carolina and Brookley Field in Mobile, AL. Senators Trent Lott and Thad Cochran praised EADS decision to select Stennis International Airport as one of its finalists.

"This is a testament to the success of the growing aerospace industry in our state," said Cochran. "The announcement is a reflection of the reputation that Mississippi has established as one of the nation's premier locations for industry and technology develop-

high-powered developers and the county. Attorney Reilly Morse has filed an appeal on behalf of Clermont Harbor resident Earl Childs, who is exercising his right to question the wisdom of the County Board of Supervisors when they approved a commercial resort district that will make unlimited height high-rises possible in the Clermont Harbor/Lakeshore area.

County officials also say developers will have to agree to foot the bill for needed infrastructure for their multi-million dollar developments.

Morse said he is not ready to publicly reveal the exact criteria on which the appeal will be based. But it is safe to say that there is a consensus that high-rise condominiums are not a compatible use for that area of the county, Morse said. The County Planning and Zoning Board approved preliminary site plans for ten high-rise towers ranging from 12 to 36 stories last week.

The appeal will be filed under Child's name, but the action will represent the efforts of a much larger group, the newly-formed Coastal Community Watch, whose organizers claim hundreds of local residents among their membership. The group says its mission is to exert pressure on public officials to preserve the basic character of the community despite inevitable growth.

The district represents 1,052 acres between Poinset and Bayou Caddy, and between the beach and the railroad tracks. Previously reported estimates of the district being 6,000 acres were a result of miscalculations. Building official Mickey Lagasse said he is not sure how the mistake was made. The person figuring the area was probably looking at "the wrong perimeters, said tax assessor Jimmie Ladner.

Morse said the county has up to 30 days to turn over all the evidence from the public hearing on the zoning ordinance, and the records from the meeting where the district was approved by supervisors, to the circuit court. Morse said that his job will then be to make sure that proper procedures were followed. Lagasse said he would have the records to the court within a week of a notice of the appeal, to ease the procedure. Records will include copies of all exhibits, all minutes, and a transcript of the tapes of the meetings, he said.

"I feel that when the judge reviews it all he will see that the county did everything correctly," Lagasse said.

"We would have liked for this to go forward without an appeal," said developer Kirk Ladner. "But every individual has a right to have their own opinion. Now we must wait for the judge."

Representative for Cure Land Company Richard Kern said he hoped that people would begin to look at the positives of development, as well as the negatives.

"I respect the due process and certainly don't have control of what will happen," Kern said. "But I hope that sooner or later people will come to embrace the quality growth that is coming."

The actual buildable land in the district is about 350 acres, Ladner said he understands, with the remainder being tidal marsh land. It is his family's intent to preserve as much of the tidal marsh land as possible, he said.

"People don't buy concrete and steel," Ladner said. "And the more pristine marshland you have the more appealing it is to potential buyers."

The appeal hearing will be just one of the obstacles facing the large scale developers. With about 10,000 condominium units planned for final build out in the area, the new district will create a tremendous strain on water and sewer treatment infrastructure already working at capacity.

When supervisors approved the new district there was a mention of a development agreement between the developers and the county, however no guidelines were discussed at the time. At a meeting of the Southern Regional Wastewater Board on Tuesday, attorney Ronnie Artigues said no further permits or approvals would be issued without the completion of the agreement. And that final agreement will mean that the county will not foot the bill for any of the new infrastructure that the large scale developments would require, said board member and Supervisor Rocky Pullman.

The Southern Regional Board said they would hold a workshop with developers and other officials to discuss the costs of needed services. Artigues said the district has not received any figures on estimates of needed service capacity. General estimates for a per household use would put service needs for 10,000 units between 2 and 3 million gallons per day for wastewater treatment.

Kirk Ladner said last week that he understood that he and partners would be required to cover the cost of pipes for services and the upgrade of a lift station. Kern said he understood that developers would be responsible for all costs related to infrastructure needs, including the cost of a possible additional treatment plant.

At present, the Waveland plant has just added about 400,000 million gallons a day of increased capacity, but the third phase of Hancock County Water and Sewer District customers have already been waiting for years for the plant to have enough capacity to handle their service needs. A 1.5 mgd plant is planned for the Western county, but the temporary 200,000 gallon per day plant has yet to break ground, so at present the upgrade to 1.5 mgd is years away. Board members also discussed the possibility of another plant to serve the resort district area.

The issue of imminent condominium development is not just a local issue. A Wednesday lunch meeting at the Great Southern Club called by the Mississippi Development Authority and Hancock Bank to discuss the issue of condo development across the coast, drew about 165 people, said cooperative communications manager at Hancock Bank Paul Maxwell. Officials, economic planners and county leaders from across the three coastal counties attended the meeting.

Guest speaker MDA Executive Director Leland R. Speed discussed the need for an "across the coast" cohesive effort or plan of smart economic growth to govern condo development while at the same time preserving the things we love about the area, said Maxwell.

Speed advised county officials to know who they were dealing with, said Hancock Port and Harbor business manager Susan Veglia, and deal with community minded developers. Veglia said the suggestion of a coast wide moratorium on issuing permits for the high-rise developments was also discussed. The suggested moratorium would give communities an opportunity to do more planning for the developments, Veglia said.

$50,000. The center will serve as a hub for many aspects of NASA, including human resources, procurement, financial management and information technology operations.

"The center will consolidate functional activities that are spread around NASA into one location," said Paul Foreman, news chief for Stennis Space Center.

"Naturally, we are pleased that NASA Stennis Space Center was chosen as the site for NASA's Shared Services Center," said Admiral Tom Donaldson, director of SSC. "This decision is a reflection of the outstanding contractor team of CSC and Lockheed Martin that initially selected and proposed Stennis to be the site for the NSSC. The hard work and commitments by the States of Mississippi and Louisiana, as well as by our NASA-contractor workforce, are evident in this selection."

The bidding was highly competitive. As part of the process, the State of Mississippi passed a $23.7 million bond issue for the construction of the center. The State of Louisiana also put up $1 million for employee training, as 27 percent of SSC's workforce lives in Louisiana.

The total value of the contract is estimated at $230 million, to be distributed over 10 years. In a press release, Governor Haley Barbour said NASA choice of Mississippi was an affirmation of the state's economic potential.

"This decision by NASA is a solid testament to Mississippi's growing position in the high-technology sector," Barbour said. "Being affiliated with such a prestigious organization like NASA is likely to lure thousands more high-technology jobs for the future. This proves we have a workforce that is able to support major U.S. government installations."

The Center is expected to be fully operational by October of this year.

exploded one, according to Luther who was summoned to the scene.

The packages were located on Highway 604, approximately 100 yards from Highway 607, which is about three miles from the Jon C. Stennis' Space Center's South gate, Luther estimated.

"There was no explosive materials in the (the packages), but the ATF is still conducting an investigation," Paul Foreman, Stennis Space Center News chief reported.

Dee Lumpin, deputy director, Hancock County Emergency Management Agency said, "They had glass and nails and some kind of gooey substance in them. There is an ongoing investigation because we don't know what their purpose was. We don't know what they were for and why anyone put them there.

Luther reported there was a lot of speculation, as the packages were of a peculiar design and took a lot of time and effort to make.

In addition to Hancock County Sheriff's officers, NASA Security, ATF, the Biloxi Bomb Squad, FBI and Hancock Emergency Management Agency investigators were at the scene.

Hancock County Sheriff's Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt did say, "All I know is that there was a lot of time and effort spent because of those suspicious packages."

Luther said two of the packages were properly disposed of, while ATF took half of one of the one which was exploded and the sheriff's office, the other half.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, May 14, 2005, at Little Zion Baptist Church in Waveland at 11 a.m. Visitation will be prior to services. Interment will follow at Waveland Cemetery.

PAUL LACOSTE

Paul Victor Lacoste, Sr., 81, joined the angels in Heaven May 5, 2005. Visitation will be Tuesday, May 10, 2005, at St. James Episcopal Church, Jackson, beginning at 3 p.m., with a memorial service immediately following in the Nave at 4:30 p.m. A graveside service will be held Wednesday, May 11, 2005, in Bay St. Louis, MS at 2 p.m. at the Garden of Memories Cemetery.

Paul was born in Bay St. Louis, MS, to Emit and Emily Lacoste on Easter Day April 20, 1924. He attended Bay High and graduated from St. Stanislaus. He enlisted in the United States Navy during World War II and served as Lieutenant J.G. in the Pacific Theatre, Navy Seabees. Before deployment to the Pacific, he proposed to the love of his life, Lucy Weston, who promptly accepted and traveled to New York City where he was stationed, and they were married February 3, 1945.

Upon discharge from the Navy, he returned to Mississippi State University to finish his education and graduated in 1947 with a degree in Civil Engineering. After graduation he embarked on a successful lifetime career in the construction business. He began in Gulfport, MS, moved to Ackerman, MS, and finally to Jackson in 1958. In 1962, he founded his own construction company, Con-Plex, Inc. Chief among the company's numerous successful projects were the company's instrumental role in restoring the historic Natchez Trace, substantial construction on Interstate 55 in Mississippi, and Interstate 20 in Louisiana, restoring the Bay St. Louis Bridge after Hurricane Camille, building Memorial Stadium in Jackson and the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

After retiring from heavy construction, he began a second career in real estate development and management; two of his most successful endeavors were planning and development of Roses Bluff and Fox Bay in Madison and Rankin Counties.

Paul was an avid fan and loyal supporter of Mississippi State Football. He served as President of the Bulldog Club and on the Board of the Mississippi State University Development Foundation.

Paul was preceded in death by his son, Paul Victor Lacoste, Jr., and his daughter, Ann Minor, his brothers, E.J. Lacoste, Jr., Robert Lacoste, and Bernie Lacoste, and sister, Yvonne Lacoste Kotterman.

Paul is survived by his loving and devoted wife of 60 years, Lucy, his son Robert and his wife Ashley of Ridgeland, his daughters, Dr. Estelle Robinson of Gulfport, and Lucy Munroe and her husband Tony of Concord, MA, and six grandchildren: Emily and Anna Lacoste of Memphis, TN, Henry Minor of Starkville, Paul Minor and Mary Grace Kullman of Jackson, and Wilson Minor and his wife Nickie of Oxford.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests memorials be made to: Mississippi State Bulldog Club, The Mississippi State Development Foundation, The Andrew Jackson Council of Boy Scouts of America or the charity of one's choice.

CORINNE LEVY

Corinne "CoCo" Scioneaux Levy, 97, died May 8, 2005, in Pass Christian, MS.

Levy was a native of Baton Rouge, LA, but a resident of the Bay St. Louis-Pass Christian area for the past 8 years. She was of the Catholic faith.

She was preceded in death by her husband of 54 years, Gabriel Levy; two sisters, Gladys Hunt and Effie Savignol; two brothers, Alfred Scioneaux and Clifton Scioneaux; three half-sisters, Marie Baskin, Beatrice Callaghan and Edna Loup; Half-brother Elphege Scioneaux; parents, Bertha and Theodule Scioneaux and step-father Walter Junker.

She is survived by two daughters and their husbands, Geraldine Levy and Lou Venincase of Dallas, TX, and Hilda Levy and Jerry Bourg of Diamondhead, MS; one son and his wife, Charles and Bernadine Levy of Georgetown, TX; 8 grand children and 14 great grandchildren.

Relatives and friends are invited to attend visitation at St. Joseph Cathedral, Baton Rouge, LA, on Saturday, May 14, 2005, from 9 until 10 a.m. At 10 a.m. a mass of Christian burial will follow at Roselawn Cemetery in Baton Rouge, LA.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations to St. Joseph's Academy, Corinne Levy Scholarship Fund, 3015 Broussard St., Baton Rouge, LA 70808 or Hospice or memorials be made to the charity of your choice.

Airport is first in nation to get new EDS system

Gulfport-Biloxi International Airport is the first Airport in the United States to receive the next generation Explosives Detection System (EDS) for checked baggage screening. The first of two new Reveal Technologies CT-80 EDS machines were installed and operational in our ticket counter area in 8 hours," said Bruce Trallic, Airport Executive Director, "and they're operating at peak efficiency with no interruption in the baggage screening process."

"I am pleased that the Gulfport-Biloxi International Airport was chosen as the first site to house this important baggage screening technology. The acquisition of this and other security screening equipment places the Gulfport-Biloxi International Airport in a position to set the pace for the Department of Homeland Security's implementation of airport security technologies across the United States," said Senator Thad Cochran.

The Reveal CT-80 successfully passed TSA's rigorous EDS certification test in December 2004. "This automated system is less expensive, smaller than other technologies and allows the baggage screening function to save time and labor without sacrificing performance," said Frank Genzer, Airport Authority Chairman.

The Reveal CT-80s are part of a Transportation Security Administration (TSA) "pilot program" announced by TSA in March 2005, where Reveal EDS machines would be deployed to JFK, Newark and Gulfport-Biloxi International Airport for explosives detection. "This new equipment is an example of our continuing partnership with the private sector to develop, test and deploy the latest, state-of-the-art technology," said Rear Adm. David Stone, USN (Ret), Assistant Secretary of Homeland Security for TSA. "This new technology is yet another tool TSA can utilize to protect the American people."

"Gulfport-Biloxi participates in new security technology pilot programs, and this came about through the assistance of Senator Thad Cochran. Senator Cochran recognizes that small airports like Gulfport-Biloxi have the same security challenges as the largest airports. All airports need an efficient, accurate, and fail safe explosives detection system," said Genzer. "We appreciate the Senator's support for the Reveal EDS program at Gulfport-Biloxi."

Chamber After Hours is Thursday, May 19

Cellular South and the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club are the sponsors for the May Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours.

The event will be held on Thursday, May 19, from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club located at 697 North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

International Airport.

"Today marks the commencement of the TSA pilot program for next generation explosives detection," said Pat Baroco, TSA Federal Security Director at Gulfport-Biloxi International Airport.

"The Reveal CT-80 checked baggage screening system is cutting edge technology," said Baroco. "Together with the GE Entry Scan Explosives Trace Detector deployed to Gulfport-Biloxi earlier this year, our Airport now has the latest technology available."

According to Airport officials, the timing for installation of the Reveal equipment as related to the Airport terminal expansion is perfect. A major terminal expansion began in 2004 and is slated for completion in early 2006.

Grand opening

Mamaw's Kountry Koozin, located in Zuppardo's Plaza, behind Burger King, 603 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, recently celebrated its grand opening with a ribbon cutting. In attendance were Lynn Chassez, Emily Madden, Amanda Patrick, Susan Saavedra, owners Rachel (Mamaw) and Tom Fleming, Katie Anderson, Tammy Hoyt and many others. The new business is open for breakfast and lunch, Tuesday-Sunday and dinner, Thursday-Saturday and is closed on Monday. Mamaw's offers dine-in or carry out orders. ## Retirement System will hold election

The Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS) of Mississippi Board of Trustees has scheduled an election for a State Employee Representative on the Board to complete an unexpired term.

The election is for a term that ends June 30, 2008. The vacancy was created by the retirement of Board member Jan Larsen.

Any employee of a state agency who has been a PERS member for at least 10 years is eligible to qualify for the election by filing petitions signed by at least 25 PERS members.

Petitions will be mailed to state agencies Monday, May 23. State employees interested in the election should contact the personnel or human resource office in their agencies to obtain petitions.

The deadline to file petitions at the PERS Building, 429 Mississippi Street, Jackson, MS 39201 is 5 p.m. Thursday, June 23. Any petitions received after the deadline will be disallowed even if postmarked prior to the deadline.

Ballots will be mailed to state agencies Monday, July 11 and must be returned to PERS and received by 5 p.m. Thursday, August 11. If no candidate receives a majority of ballots cast in the first election, the two candidates with the most votes will qualify for a runoff election.

All PERS members employed by state agencies are qualified to participate in the election.

Reed recognized by Boys & Girls Clubs of America

Triton gains in ATM market

Triton, an award-winning pioneer in the retail ATM market, has received a boost to its presence in the banking world, with a recent provider agreement with the nation's largest banking trade association. Recently, the Independent Community Bankers of America (ICBA), named Triton ICBA's Preferred Service Provider for ATM machines.

According to ICBA, Triton was selected as the association's preferred service provider for ATMs for a variety of reasons including their ability to work with virtually any existing network and a track record of reliability. In addition, Triton is fully compliant with all security mandates and ADA requirements.

"Being chosen as ICBA's preferred provider for ATM machines is an important milestone for Triton," said Brian Kett, president of Triton. "The selection is a testament to our outstanding track record."

Kett said that Triton's track record of providing the best solution for overall low cost of ownership to retail customers will be brought to our new banking customers. "The banking industry's recognition reaffirms that Triton is well positioned to add significant value to the ICBA membership with high-quality ATM machines at the most affordable cost."

Triton continues to gain ground in the banking ATM market, as the banking side is where the company started in the ATM industry. In 1985, Triton developed the world's first battery powered and completely portable device for banks to train customers on ATM usage. Much of the Triton's growth has come from the retail, or the off-premise ATM market since the company began production of ATMs in 1994.

Camden R. Fine, president and CEO of ICBA, commented, "We are pleased to establish a new relationship with Triton. As our members expand their existing ATM networks and replace existing equipment, it is essential that we team up with a provider that has the expertise, relationships and demonstrated ability to assist our members with cost effective solutions."

Fab 5 give long season of color

If you feel like spring is racing by and you haven't planted anything, don't fret. Today's annuals can give flowerbeds the pick-me-up you need. No other group of plants provides as much color as quickly and economically as annuals.

Prepare beds by adding 3 to 4 inches of organic matter such as compost, humus, pine bark or peat moss, and 1 or 2 inches of sharp sand if the soil is really heavy.

Get a soil test before adding fertilizer. If you cannot get a soil test, try broadcasting 2 pounds of a slow-release, 12-6-6 fertilizer containing minor nutrients per 100 square feet of bed space, and till it in with the organic amendments.

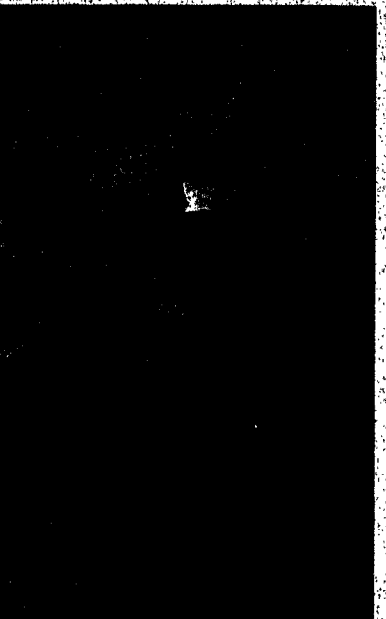

Transplants are the way to go. The dilemma may be deciding which annuals to choose. I have listed five of my favorites here, including a few that could be perennial in some areas.

ORNAMENTAL SWEET POTATOES (IPOMOEA BATATAS)

The ornamental sweet potato has become a tremendous success story in just a few short years. It brings color and pizzazz to the landscape the entire season and covers space almost as quickly as kudzu.

Other than an insect or two, the ornamental sweet potato is foolproof. Whether cascading over a wall or trailing down a slope, you can't beat the ornamental sweet potato. They often return from underground tubers. My favorites are the

Sense of Serenity

Visit Old Town Bay St. Louis for a special 2nd Saturday

THE SEA COAST ECHO

On May 14, the artists and merchants of Old Town Bay St. Louis will be presenting good food, fine wine, excellent music and incredible art to the public during the Second Saturday Artwalk. While opening at their usual times on Saturday morning, the businesses in Old Town will keep their doors thrown wide open until 8 p.m. in celebration of the monthly event.

Unique to this month's Artwalk will be the 4 p.m. ribbon cutting to dedicate Serenity Place in honor of Jerry Dixon, former owner of Serenity Gallery. Now "Maggie May's Exploring the World of Art," the building at 126 Main Street has been a constant source of delight for lovers of fine art for many years. Maggie May's is one of the "hot spots" for this month, and the featured artist at Maggie May's is printmaker Gwen Impson. Impson's exhibit will feature new and exciting work in fine art printmaking which incorporates a unique method of presentation. Impson will be on hand to discuss her techniques during the opening reception at Maggie May's from 5-8 p.m.

This month's other "hot spots" are Charbonnet and Charbonnet, located in the 200 block of Main Street, and Chessy's, which is located in the 100 block of South Beach Blvd. Charbonnet and Charbonnet will be having a huge tent sale during the Artwalk, and will also feature their new line of "coastal clothing" for ladies.

Photographer shares his vision of 'B'aveland'

Quarter Moon Gallery is hosting a show of new images by popular local photographer James de Buys. The show will open 2nd Saturday, May 14 with an artist's reception from 5-8 p.m.

The new show, entitled "B'aveland," focuses on the Bay-Waveland area of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The collection consists of a series of photographs capturing the essence of life along the coast.

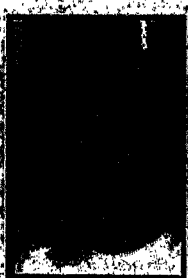

De Buys' work is very timely, as major developments now threaten the current quality of life residents and visitors treasure. "This is the way the Coast looks now," said de Buys. "If we don't protect the natural state, photo-

To Breed Or Not To Breed? That's a good question

It's very difficult for many pet owners to resist the temptation to consider breeding their pet. After all, nothing brings out the "Aww..." factor quite like babies, whatever the species. Most of us are also certain that our pet is the most wonderful, smartest, and beautiful of their kind. Who wouldn't want one of Buffy's puppies or Chloe's kittens?

Before you chose to breed your pet, it's important to carefully and objec-tively examine every aspect of your decision. If you own a pure-bred animal, the fact that he or she has "papers" is no indication of quality. A pedigree is simply a list of the animal's parents, grandparents, and so on. It may be composed of fine, sound specimens of the breed, or not. I've seen registered pets with pedigrees "a mile long" that scarcely bore any resenblance to the breed they were, either in type or temperament. Even individuals who are very knowledgeable about their breed find it difficult to objectively evaluate their own animal. One of the primary purposes of showing animals is the opportunity to present it to an expert judge for an unbiased opinion.

An animal doesn't necessarily need to be a top-winning champion to be suitable for breeding.

However, it should be physically correct, and sound in every way. You need to be familiar with genetic problems that are common in your breed, and have your pet evaluated or tested, even if he or she appears healthy. Remember that temperament, too, is largely hereditary.

Don't make excuses for poor temperament! Animals that are nervous,

RESTAURANT REVIEW

Presenting some of the finest Restaurants on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and an excellent reputation for providing delicious food at reasonable prices.

Every dish is freshly prepared to order and the portions are more than generous. Take for example the fried eggplant with shrimp and crabmeat appetizer topped with Hollandaise for only $7.99. Be sure to try the spinach-artichoke dip served hot with chips for only $4.95. Seafood gumbo, some of the best I've ever had, is available daily as well as a soup of the day.

If you are trying to eat light, order one of Southern Delights fantastic salads. Shrimp salad, grilled or fried shrimp, or the grilled, fried or blackened chicken salad are all excellent choices.

Southern Delights also grills steaks! Choose 2, 8oz

McGee, Nunez bring home the gold

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

Five medals were brought home from the 2005 State Track and Field Championships on May 6-7 by the area qualifiers. In fact, one could say that the area rules the long distance running in the state as all five medals were brought home in the 1600m and 3200m races.

Corey McGee of Pass Christian claimed two gold medals in her first state track meet at Pearl. The seventh grade prodigy claimed both the 1600m and 3200m titles with times of 5:22.82 and 12:08.93.

McGee accounted for 20 of the Lady Pirates 21 points in the meet. The other point came from the pass Christian 4x400m relay which finished eighth in the state with a time of 4:26.21. McGee finished the season undefeated in the state of Mississippi and posted the fastest girls 1600m time in the state.

The Lady Pirates scored 21 points to finish 12th out of 32 teams represented. Pontotoc High School won the Class 4A girls team title with 75.5 total points followed by West Jones with 55 points.

Mollie Nunez, a junior at Hancock High School won gold in the Class 5A girls 1600m run with a time of 5:38.99. This was the first time back at the state track meet for Nunez since her eighth grade season. She is also a standout tennis player for the Lady Hawks and scheduling conflicts had prevented Nunez from competing in both sports.

Nunez came on strong for the Lady Hawk thinclads at the end of the season improving each week. She placed second at the district meet and third at the regional competition before closing out the final two weeks of the season with a south state and state championship.

The only Lady Hawk senior on the track team, Erica Moran, placed fifth overall in the discus with a throw of 96'6". Moran won the district and regional titles before placing second in the south state championships last week.

Nick Going, a sophomore discus thrower for the Hawks, placed eighth in the state with a throw of 120' 5". Going took second place in the district meet followed by a regional championship. Last week, he placed fourth in the south state meet at Gulfport.

In the girls division, the Lady Hawks finished 12th overall with 14 points out of 25 teams represented. Natchez High School edged out Vicksburg for the Class 5A girls team title with 95 points. Vicksburg tallied 91 points.

In the boys division, Brandon High School claimed the 5A state crown with 78 points followed by Warren Central with 52 points.

The Hancock Hawks feature a strong returning team on the track next spring as they lose just two seniors on the boys team and only Moran on the girls team.

The OLA Crescents were represented by senior Jennifer Asper who has led OLA in the distance events the last four seasons.

Asper competed in the 1600m and 3200m runs in Class 3A where she earned the bronze medal in both events. Her times were 5:43.47 and 12:35.36, respectively.

Asper accounted for all of OLA's 12 points which placed them 19th overall out of 29 teams represented. Amite County High School won the 3A girls team title with 107 points followed by Tylertown with 75 points.

Carthage High School won the boys 3A state championship with 84 points. Tylertown, a perennial state contender, was second with 82 points in the close race.

St. Stanislaus continued their presence in the state meet with pole vaulters Connor Smith and Derek Miketinas.

Smith, a state finalist last year, placed fifth overall with a vault of 11' while Miketinas finished sixth with a 9'6" vault.

The Rocks, as a team, placed 24th overall with 7 points out of 35 total teams represented. Pearl High School claimed the 4A state title with 85 points followed by Jackson-Wingfield High School with 62.50 points.

NEWSPAPERS DELIVER VOTERS

70% of newspaper subscribers say they will "definitely vote"!

NEWSPAPERS ARE EFFECTIVE

Newspaper readership is highest among the groups most likely to vote...professionals, high income earners, the more educated and ages 35-64. Less than one of every three television viewers say they will "probably vote".

NEWSPAPERS HAVE CREDIBILITY

Newspapers score higher than any other medium in believability surveys.

NEWSPAPERS EDUCATE VOTERS

Newspapers offer in-depth coverage of local events and current issues, not just snippets and sound bites. By using this strength, Political Campaigns can get their message out to readers who tend to be "Centers of Influence" in their communities. This ability to tell the whole story helps voters make informed decisions. If you are running for political office, you need to be "in the paper"!

Garden -- the Fabulous Five

Sweet Caroline series and Margarita.

COLEUS (SOLENOSTEMON SCUTELLARIOIDES)

The coleus is a tropical plant that can give a carnival-like atmosphere to the garden. The colors are rich and highly variegated, and many varieties are able to withstand full sun throughout the growing season.

New vegetatively produced varieties of coleus are vigorous, reaching 3 feet in height and width. They are resistant to blooming, which allows for non-stop, vibrant, colorful foliage from spring until frost.

Plum, Parfait and Burgundy Sun were chosen as Texas Super Stars. Other great performers include New Orleans Red, a Louisiana Select winner, and Mississippi Summer, a Mississippi Medallion winner. The Solar series, with several variegated selections, is truly outstanding.

LANTANA (LANTANA CAMARA AND HYBRIDS)

When it is August and your thermostat is turned to 67 degrees, few plants are showing off in the garden. But the lantana is and, remarkably, it has been doing so since the first blooms of spring.

For instant color, buy a basket or large container and plant it. Not only do hummingbirds feast on the nectar, but the flowers are virtual butterfly magnets.

New Gold received the Mississippi Medallion award, Georgia Gold Medal and Texas Super Star designation. Sonnet also has received the Mississippi Medallion award. Miss Huff, Athens Rose, Samson and Sunrise are known for cold-hardiness and outstanding bloom.

VERBENA (VERBENA CANADENSIS, V. TENUI- SECTA AND HYBRIDS)

In this case I am not referring to annual verbe-nas, but to those we consider perennial to short-lived perennial. The verbenas have undergone quite a revolution in the past decade, giving the gardener a plant that is durable, disease-resistant and almost ever-blooming, from spring through frost.

BABYLON VERBENA --

The moss verbenas have become a top performer with its blooming, groundcover-like habit. The moss verbenas choke out weeds, shades and cools the root zone, and blooms profusely.

The moss verbenas have become one of the top performers with its blooming, groundcover-like habit. The moss verbenas choke out weeds, shades and cools the root zone, and blooms profusely. The rose verbenas are equally vigorous but taller. For immediate impact, plant a blooming basket in the bed.

The rose verbenas variety Homestead Purple was a Louisiana Select and Georgia Gold Medal winner. Biloxi Blue was a Mississippi Medallion winner and Texas Superstar (under the name Blue Princess). Aztec, Wildfire, Tukana and Superbona series offer several colors and are very impressive. Great selections with the moss verbenas look are the Tapien and Babylon series.

PETUNIAS (PETUNIA X HYBRIDA)

The petunia was not considered a tough flower until the mid-1990s. This changed with varieties like the Waves, Surfinias and Superpetunias.

These vigorous-spreading varieties give the gardener a petunia that probably will bloom from spring through frost. Some show remarkable cold tolerance, allowing them to bloom during the fall and winter or return in the spring.

Spring has not sprung, so to speak. Get started on fresh beds of color this weekend.

Pets -- breeding

fearful, and/or aggressive will likely produce offspring with these same traits.

You'll also need to find a mate for your pet that will best complement his or her qualities. Every breeder's goal should be to produce a generation that is even better than it's parents. Just because there's a registered golden retriever, just like Buffy right down the street doesn't mean it's a match made in heaven! Making the best choice may involve considerable time, long-distance travel, and money.

Ahh...money! Think you're going to make a bundle on that litter of Persian kittens? Reproduction is a natural process, but things can, and do, go terribly wrong. You might wind up with hundreds of dollars in vet fees, yet lose all the babies, and even mom. Trust me, it happens.

If all goes well, you'll still spend a great deal of time, effort, and money properly raising a litter. Once it's time for them to go, you'll have to find appropriate homes. Ideally, you will have lined up homes before the babies were even born, but be aware that some folks who "definitely" wanted a puppy or kitten will change their mind when confronted with reality! Screen potential homes carefully. As a breeder, you are responsible for the animals you produce, not just for six weeks, but throughout their entire life.

If a placement doesn't work out, will you take the animal back? Don't let your responsibility end up shuffled from owner to owner, or worse, dumped in a shelter. Yes, millions of pure-bred pets die in animal shelters every year.)

If, after all this, you still want to breed your pet, there are a few more things to consider. Animals used for breeding typically have shorter life spans than their spayed or neutered counterparts.

Also, some animals, especially males, can develop behaviors that may make them less than perfect house pets. Preventing accidental mating is difficult when keeping intact animals, and containment or confinement can be a real challenge.

Saturday -- Serenity

This is in addition to their collection of English and European country antiques, custom built furniture out of cypress and pine, and decorative home furnishings and gifts. Live music and refreshments will be available all along the 200 block of Main Street.

Featured artists at Cheesy's include Mollie Hearin, Seanie Kohnkie, Michelle Allee, Kat Fullilove, Pat Walker-Fields, and John Goodwyne. Cheesy's is located at 110 South Beach Blvd, in a unique building which formerly housed a hardware store and which was later remodeled to resemble a home. New Age music and the aroma of scented candles will greet visitors to Cheesy's where they will also find gifts, lamps, and furniture in addition to fine art.

Bobby Allison, arguably the most well loved of area musicians, will be gifting the Second Saturday crowds with his music. Allison will be performing songs from his ample repertoire on the 200 block of Main Street from 5-8 p.m.

His appearance during the Artwalk is courtesy of Peoples Bank. All of the artists and merchants of Old Town Bay St. Louis invite the public to join them for this lovely evening in the Bay.

'Fantasy, Fun & Smiles' for Second Saturday in the Bay

The Purple Snapper, located at 111 A Main Street, will feature clothier/mixed media artist Ellen Ellis Lee during the Second Saturday Art Walk with a show titled "Fantasy, Fun and Smiles."

Ellen, a Mississippi native, spent thirty years working in wardrobe and costume design for television and the theater in New York City before retiring and moving to the Coast.

Known initially for her soft sculpted, one of a kind elaborate art dolls, Ellen now also incorporates clay, paper, beads, wire, feathers and what her friends call her ever growing collection of "junk" into her creations. The finished product results in eclectic mixed media soft sculpted and ceramic dolls, mixed media wall art, an array of ceramic expressions and fabric art.

Largely self taught, Ellen's interest in fabrics started as a child when as a surprise for her Mother, she embroidered nursery rhymes on all the good pillow cases! "I'm inspired by nature, fashions, costumes and love of African art," Says Ellen. "My pieces begin with an idea or concept which most often grows right before my eyes, and so does my pleasure in the process."

Ellen will be present in the gallery during the Art Walk hours of 5 until 8. A showing of her work will be on exhibit through the month of May graphs may be the only way our children will be able to enjoy it."

Mr. De Buys, a native of New Orleans, graduated from St. Stanislaus, and has lived in the Bay area for most of his life. He's been a photographer for over 35 years and his work is found in many private collections.

The show will run through June 8, opening at Quarter Moon Gallery during the 2nd Saturday Artwalk on May 14, from 5-8 p.m.

His appearance during the Artwalk is courtesy of Peoples Bank. All of the artists and merchants of Old Town Bay St. Louis invite the public to join them for this lovely evening in the Bay.

16th Annual Crawfish Cook-off in Kiln

The 16th annual Crawfish Cook-Off is this Saturday at the Jourdan River Steamer.

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Over 20 teams from all over the south will compete to find out who cooks the best darn crawfish in the south. Will it be the Mallini's Tail Pinchers, Tongue, Candy from Diamondhead, The Broke Spoke from Kiln, or one of the many others? These teams from Louisiana and Mississippi go all out with one thing in mind, 1st Place. Besides just eating all the crawfish you can handle we will have live music, dancing, crawfish races, men's and women's crawfish eating contest, people's choice award, showmanship award, and judges crowning winners of the crawfish cook-off. Each team submits one member to be a judge and all the judges do a blind taste to determine the winners.

All of the spectators are allowed to vote for a popular favorite. This also makes the teams compete for the spectator's votes in all different ways. This unique event started off between a couple of guys bragging that they could cook the best crawfish, but it quickly grew into something far bigger than bragging rights. Debby Plauche, owner of Cafe Reef restaurant in Waveland, and Hank Plauche, GM of Jourdan River Steamer restaurant in Kiln, have been putting on this festival ever since.

The cook-off seems to have found universal appeal; bankers, lawyers, bricklayers, bikers, politicians it doesn't matter everyone is out to enjoy the crawfish and have a good time.

The event will be held at the Coast's newest hot spot, The Jourdan River Steamer Restaurant in Kiln. Cocktails and beer will be served at the event, but no ice chest or drinks will be allowed onto the property.

There are still a couple of team slots available. To register a team to compete, call 228-467-7333 or 228-255-7333.

Come by boat come by car. You pay one price to get onto property and eat all the crawfish you can.

The event will be held on Saturday, May 14, from 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The cost is $15 adults, $8 children and kids under 5 are free. Music will be provided by The Salt Bayou Band.

Jourdan River Steamer Restaurant is located on Hwy. 603 at the Jourdan River two miles north of MS 1-10 exit 13.

OLA students inducted into Honor Societies

Fifty-eight students of Our Lady Academy were inducted into National Honor Societies at a candle-light service in Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

Current members of the Monsignor Martin Maloney Chapters of the National Honor Society and National Junior Honor Society conducted the ceremonies. Senior Tess Sison, president of the NHS, greeted the student body and introduced the program. Senior Christy Gleber led the assembly in prayer.

Senior Jennifer Asper presented the virtues of truth and knowledge while Sophomore Amy Ashley lighted the candle representing those virtues. Four other candles, representing the four characteristics of a NHS member, were also lighted.

Senior Elissa Kergosien and Freshman Stephanie Bass presented and lighted the candle of scholarship; Senior Ellie Dauterive and Freshman Maggie Hunt, the candle of service; Senior Margot Dane and Freshman Stephanie Shifalo, the candle of leadership; and Senior Krystyna Szechowski and Freshman Kaitlyn Stovall, the candle of character.

Seniors Tess Sison, Laurie Benvenuti, and Christine Bratton inducted twenty-two new members from grades ten and eleven into the National Honor Society.

The new members of the NHS are: Juniors, Tonie

Pittari, Caroline Randolph, and Lauren Renz; and Sophomores, Amy Ashley, Stephanie Bass, Kree Cameron, Sydney Chevis, Brittany Fournier, Amy Gemelli, Morgan Gibbens, Bridget Giglione, Erin Kergosien, Courtney Klein, Morgan Ladner, Madeleine Loftus, Victoria Romano, Jessie Shifalo, Stephanie Shifalo, Leah Tucker, Alyssa Walter, Jennifer Wong, and Mary Frances Woods.

Sophomores Jennifer Wong, Alyssa Walter, and Erin Kergosien, inducted five members from the Freshman Class and thirty-one eighth graders into the National Junior Honor Society.

Freshmen inducted into the NJHS are Mary Chilimigras, Katherine Lobrano, Jamie Reisch, Karli Renz, and Elizabeth Theriot. The new NJHS members inducted from the eighth grade are: Sarah Bacot, Taylor Benvenuti, Sabrina Bradford, Samantha Bradford, Dailey Brannin, Helen Burnett, Kelsey Cannon, Caitlin Church, Rachel Courtault, Deanna Cuevas, Ashley Fournier, Hillary Goodfellow, Nia Hazeur, Katie Hector, Brittany Howell, Whitney Huet, Carley Johnson, Katy Kenny, Jennifer Leung, Katherine Lobrano, Jennifer Loiacano, Maggie Maido, Kathleen McKissack, Maddie Machelli, Lizzie Milner, Angelina Mistretta, Ashleigh Mullins, Cady Reinhart, Lauren Seal, Leah Seal, Sarah Sollberger, and Brittany Walker.

Sister Jackie Howard, principal, congratulated all new members on accomplishing the four characteristics of the Honor Societies and challenged them to have a wishbone (a dream) and a funny bone (a sense of humor) as well as a backbone (character). The ceremony closed with a prayer by Freshman Kristen Kergosien and the singing of the OLA "Alma Mater." A reception was held for the new NHS and NJHS members and their families in the OLA Resource Center.

IONATRON*

Are you passionate about technology? Are you looking for an exciting career? Ionatron is now recruiting top talent at our newest facility at Stennis Space Center located in the beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Ionatron is a fast-moving, forward-looking technology leader dedicated to flexible, Directed Energy national security and defense solutions. We're prepared to take security into the future. Working at Ionatron means becoming an important part of an extraordinary company.

We offer an exciting and innovative work environment and are committed to attracting and retaining the highest quality staff. Our outstanding benefits, a friendly corporate culture, and important and fulfilling work on the cutting edge of technology are just a few reasons Ionatron is a great place to work.

We are recruiting for professionals in the following areas:

Manufacturing

From pre-production to product delivery and service support, Manufacturing Operations professionals resolve manufacturing challenges, improve processes and maintain the integrity of product design. You'll develop, establish, and guide requirements for assembly, and manufacturing configurations. Your influence will ensure the identification and implementation of advanced manufacturing technologies. The jobs you will encounter are as diverse as they are exciting, and you'll be encouraged to move around to get a better understanding of the overall process. You will learn and support the world's finest manufacturing practices and principles...and perhaps even create a few of your own.

Engineering

Flexible Directed Energy solutions for national security and defense are the reasons Ionatron developed its core technology LIPC. Integration of our technology through engineering is at the heart of Ionatron. Electrical, Mechanical, Manufacturing, Systems, Software - whatever your discipline, you'll join the best of the best here. From the factory to the field, we realize engineering is a forever-changing discipline, and we make sure you you'll be given cutting-edge tools, the latest scientific instruments, and testing facilities to get the job done. Ionatron is making things happen in a big way.

If you've got ideas, experience, expertise that will change the world, and ambition to match, come join our team!

Plant Manager
Materials Manager
Inventory Control Specialist
Buyer/Purchasing Agent
Machine Shop Manager
Electronic/Electrical Technicians
Industrial Engineers
Assemblers
Fabricators
Mechanical Engineers
Electrical Engineers
Network Technician
Manufacturing Engineers
Overseas Field Service Technicians

Applicants selected will be subject to a government security investigation and must meet eligibility requirement for access to classified information. US citizenship required.

Ionatron is an equal opportunity employer M/F/D/V.
